

Past and Present AAS Winners

Pepper Mexican Sunset F1

Announced as a 2018 AAS regional winner, Mexican Sunset Pepper F1 is a compact, high-heat Hungarian hot wax pepper. Fruit sets early then prolifically throughout the summer bringing a variety of colors to the garden as the fruits mature. These conical pointed peppers produce a thick walled fruit that can be eaten at any stage. Great eaten fresh, stuffed and baked, grilled or pickled.

Herb Chives Garlic Geisha

Announced as a 2015 AAS national winner, Geisha is a vigorous grower with a nice 'just-right' garlic flavor. Slightly wider, flatter and more refined leaves topped by pretty white flower stalks late in the season mean this is another edible that can serve a dual purpose as an ornamental. Geisha is a great culinary herb for use in stir-fries, soups, compound butters and as a fresh garnish.

Tomato Chef's Choice Red F1

The fifth addition to the popular Chef's Choice tomato series is Chef's Choice Red which produces globe-shaped, red beefsteak type tomatoes. This 2018 AAS regional winner has just the right balance of acid to sugar. AAS judges raved about the prolific yield of the 8-ounce fruits that the strong, 5-foot indeterminate vines produced.

Pepper Mexican Sunrise F1

Announced as a 2018 AAS regional winner, Mexican Sunrise F1 brings to the garden a full spectrum of colors from lime green to yellow then orange and red as the fruit matures. The conical pendant shaped peppers are thick walled and semi-hot. They can be eaten at any stage. Vegetable gardeners are sure to love this attractive fruit.

Tomato Chef's Choice Pink F1

Announced as a 2015 regional winner, Chef's Choice Pink is a tasty beauty in the beefsteak tomato category. Indeterminate potato leaf plants yield large fruits with sweet, meaty flesh. This hybrid is easier to grow than most beefsteaks so don't be timid, give it a try! The reward will be healthy disease-resistant plants and a large harvest of tasty, attractive pink fleshed tomatoes reminiscent of heirloom varieties.

Cucumber Saladmore Bush F1

Saladmore Bush F1 Cucumber boasts a bush-type growth habit making this 2015 AAS regional winner perfect for growing in container gardens. Anyone looking for a good slicing type cucumber with dark green skin and long straight fruits will enjoy this beauty, along with its superior taste and texture. An added bonus is the disease resistance that proved to be especially valuable in warmer climates.

Onion Warrior

Announced as a 2016 AAS regional winner, Warrior grows quickly and thus matures early, producing a very uniform crop of slender, crisp onion stalks that are easy to harvest and clean. Warrior can be used raw to add texture, flavor and color to all kinds of dishes or they are delicious grilled whole as part of a grilled vegetable platter or entrée accompaniment.

Pepper Giant Ristra F1

Announced as a 2014 AAS regional winner, Giant Ristra F1 looks like a red Marconi pepper but has the heat of a cayenne. The texture and heat (hot, but not too hot) of this pepper makes it an excellent eating variety while it can also be dried and used in dishes for up to one year. Should you choose to use the peppers for a decoration, they can be used to make a beautiful ristra of dried peppers.
